Our Community is slowly switching over to gate openers with new technology rather than current toggle switches. While the old clickers still work, we are beginning to experience some difficulty in them working consistently.

The new clickers have a much stronger signal and you can press your button half way down Roscoe Turner Trail and the gate will open. The new style clickers are also much more secure.

The eventual goal is to update all clickers to the new technology . If you are interested in purchasing a new clicker at this time, please contact Tout Management. The cost is $30.

VEGETATION EASEMENTS AND FENCING

Board of Directors, ARC

Over the years homeowners put up fences for various reasons: privacy, children, play gyms, family dogs, etc. The ARC was limiting them to be installed 10 feet from the back property line, leaving the vegetative area alone. Unfortunately, over the years, some homes haven't maintained these vegetation easements. They had become overgrown, and in some instances have either been completely cleared or just left with a tree or two. Observing this, the ARC then allowed new fencing projects to be installed to the back property line including the vegetative easement.

With more and more fences going up, numerous vegetative easements are completely being cleared. When consulting the City plat for the community, it states, "that the natural vegetation within the easement area be left undisturbed except for minor under brushing and pruning as the City may approve."

Going forward and as our documents require, anyone enclosing a vegetation easement should maintain that enclosed area with vegetation. The ARC has the plot plan showing the homes that have vegetative easements and can confirm it with you if necessary.

When you submit an application to the ARC for fencing, and intend to enclose the vegetation easement area, you will need to attach a detailed landscaping plan for the area, along with the city permit.

When applying for your City of Port Orange fencing permit, you can get help in this area. Mention that you are enclosing a vegetation easement area. You can speak with Gwen Perney, City of Port Orange Principal Planner, or Amanda Bonin in Code Enforcement to help you plan what is removable, and what plantings they recommend for installation that would meet the City criteria.

Anyone who has already fenced in a vegetation easement area should restore the appropriate vegetation to that area. It will help with drainage issues and provide a nice visual appearance against your fence.

When the Sanctuary community was designed, a 10 foot or more vegetation easement was included behind many of the homes. The purpose of the vegetation easement was to create an esthetic green element between houses and to aid with drainage issues and to create a natural privacy buffer between homes. The easements are dedicated to the City of Port Orange. The ownership of the land, subject to the natural vegetation easement, is deeded to the owner of the lot on which the easement is located.

MESSAGE FROM THE ARC

There has been a lot of discussion lately about individual house mailbox colors and how there appears to be different shades of green throughout the community.

Even though we advise homeowners to purchase the color Hunter Green, the shade differs between paint brands. The ARC has decided on one brand to try and reduce the number of different shades being used in the Sanctuary. Homeowners wishing to repaint their mailbox should only use the following brands going forward for the box itself and the top section with numbers:

Box: Krylon Color Maxx Paint and Primer indoor/outdoor gloss Hunter Green, good on Metal, Wood and Plastic

Top Section: Krylon – Same as box

Numbers: Sharpe medium point paint pen. Oil based point marker color :

YELLOW

Krylon is available at Lowes, Home Depot and Walmart

Sharpe Paint Pens are available at Michael's Craft Stores, and other craft stores

UPDATE FROM THE LANDSCAPE COMMITTEE

This is such a great time of year as we get ready for the holidays and spending time with friends and family. In the upcoming weeks, we will begin decorating our neighborhood and planting new holiday flowers.

As you may have noticed, over the past six months we have made several improvements to our landscaping around the community. Due to storm damage and diseased trees, we have replaced 8 Ligustrum trees, a new Robellini and several shrubs at the entrance of Barrington Woods. We have also removed diseased trees on our first island on Sanctuary Garden, and replaced them with 5 Robellini and Jasmine ground cover. As you drive down Roscoe Turner you will see that we have planted 14 new Hollys, Japanese Blueberry and Oak trees around the pond and benches, creating a beautiful park like area, where you can sit, relax and enjoy our beautiful neighborhood.

As you think about getting ready for your own upcoming gardening projects, we would like to offer you a source for some relevant information on gardening tips and clinics. Listed below are websites and meeting dates that may be helpful to you and answer questions you might have.

GARDENING IN CENTRAL FLORIDA - YOUR UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA AND MASTER GARDENER CONNECTION

For information on all of your gardening, turf and tree trimming questions, there is an excellent University of Florida source at http://solutionsforyourlife.ufl.edu.

The University of Florida Central Florida Gardening Calendar, a document within the site arranged by month, is at hhtp//edis.ifas.ufl.edu/ep450.

There is a Master Gardener clinic at the Port Orange Library. The next couple of sessions will be held on Tuesday December 19th and April 16th at 2PM (unless otherwise advertised). They often have a topic presentation at the beginning of the clinic, followed by a question and answer period. Bring them your gardening issues, as well as samples of your diseased plants for diagnosis.

Happy Gardening Everyone! Connie Pawela
